

NATIONAL ART SCHOOL

Academic Credit / Recognition of Prior Learning Policy

National Art School (NAS) will endeavour to recognise any relevant previous study, that does not disadvantage the student in their experience of and/or transition into the course and does not damage the integrity or learning outcomes for the course.

Academic Credit may be granted to students who have completed the equivalent of National Art (NAS) units at another institution within the last 10 years from the date of current enrolment at NAS.

When assessing an application for Academic Credit we assess the following:

1. The AQF level (or equivalent) of previous study
2. The volume of learning (i.e. equivalent hours of study)
3. The content and learning outcomes of previous study.

In order for credit to be granted the previous study must of the same level and closely aligned in terms of volume of learning and content.

Specific Credit & Block Credit

Specific Credit can be awarded where previous study closely matches all the criteria for a specific unit of study. Whereas block credit can be granted where the level, volume of learning and learning outcomes of unit(s) are closely aligned, but there is variation in the content of the previous study

(For example block credit toward AHT Electives may awarded where student has completed units of study at AQF level 7, with similar volume of learning to an AHT unit of study but in an area of Art History & Theory that NAS does not currently offer as an AHT Elective.)

Advanced Standing

Advanced Standing is form of Block-credit which recognises the previous study of an applicant that is equivalent to the 1st year of study of the Bachelor of Fine Art or Master Fine Art. Provisions for Advanced Standing are detailed in the NAS Admissions Policy.

Maximum Credit

Under normal circumstances NAS will not offer for than 50% of total credit points towards a degree.

NAS may offer more than 50% of total credit points as academic credit it in response to requests for replacement courses for those affected by a provider closure or in other compelling circumstances.

Work and Life Experience

NAS is unable to offer any form of academic credit on the basis of work experience or life experience, unless specifically provided for in the NAS Admissions Policy.
